The Hospital for Sick Children

Since its modest beginnings in 1875 when a group of women volunteers led by Elizabeth McMaster rented an 11-room house and set six iron cots, the Hospital for Sick Children (SickKids) has become one of the top four children's hospitals in the world.

SickKids is a leading research and teaching hospital affiliated with the University of Toronto. SickKids is Canada’s most research-intensive hospital dedicated to enhancing children’s health. As leaders and partners in child health, SickKids improves the health of children by integrating care, research and teaching. The Hospital supports scientific and clinical advancements, shares its knowledge and expertise, and champions the development of an accessible, comprehensive and sustainable child health-care system. More information on SickKids can be found at www.sickkids.ca.

Speech-language pathologists at SickKids, specifically our occupational therapists, physiotherapists, speech-language pathologists, play a critical role in fulfilling our mission: to provide the best in family-centred, compassionate care, to lead in scientific and clinical advancement, and to prepare the next generation of leaders in child health.

Join the staff of a centre renowned for excellence in family-centred paediatric care. Working at Sick Kids is both inspiring and rewarding.